BEIRUT: Rival students affiliated with the Kataeb (Phalange) Party and Hezbollah clashed at Beirut's Saint Joseph University Wednesday following a dispute between students on campus. An argument between student supporters of Kataeb and Hezbollah developed into a fistfight and other students affiliated with the Lebanese Forces joined the clash to face off Hezbollah supporters. The clash was quickly contained after the Lebanese Army and the ISF intervened and cordoned off the area. A number of students suffered minor injuries. — The Daily Star
